Mordant & McFall

R. Mordant Mahon

Serial vlogger and author R. Mordant Mahon uses his energetic sense of humor and creative coaching style to inspire others to level up their lives. A comedic motivational Success Freak, Mordant encourages and challenges people to dance outside their comfort zones via his galvanizing keynote speeches—always succeeding in giving both mind and spirit something to chew on while putting enough laughter in your heart to make you smile out loud.

Charles McFall

Since discovering podcasting in 2006, Charles McFall focused on building his career in this media. In the past four years he successfully developed multiple live shows, created content & produced episodes for others, and strove to bring live broadcasting to the podcasting community. In January 2012 he joined Adam Curry's No Agenda Stream and four months later joined the staff as the company's A&R Manager. As the host of one daily & two weekly live shows, Charles has been featured on the School of Podcasting as an expert in the live experience, building a team, and self-branding.
